Re: Electrical Industry Administrative Staff

Dear NECA Members, Employees and Industry Partners,

As the attention of our Nation is completely centered on COVID-19, there continues to be a strong focus and attention to detail in our daily routine, whether that be in the office, working from home or through our many virtual meetings and webinars in the Electrical Industry.

While this is not how we intended to celebrate the loyal and productive professional administrative staff of the NECA/IBEW Electrical Industry, it is the reality of today. So, while you continue to serve the industry in your respective abilities, it is important to note that our industry and all of the people in it would not be as efficient without you. Please know your hard work does not go unnoticed.

We are grateful to have you supporting our great industry and, until we can all gather again, a huge and warm heartfelt thank you to all of our professional administrative staff for what you do to make this industry strong, viable and safe.

You deserve the recognition and praise!

Thank you sincerely!
